Bread Making Rediscovered

Nothing is quite as inviting as the aroma and tasty goodness of homemade bread. Families are rediscovering the money-saving and health benefits of home cooking. Bread making is one of those skills making a revival in the kitchen. Join University of Illinois-Stephenson County for a Bread Making Rediscovered workshop. Explore the world of yeast and wholesome grains during this bread making program.

The workshop will include material on updated techniques, bread ingredients including whole grains, and making the most of bread making equipment. Samples will be served.

University of Illinois Extension-Stephenson County will offer the workshop Bread Making Rediscovered on October 27 from 6-8 pm at the Freeport Public Library. The instructor for the workshop is Sarah Todd, RD, University of Illinois Extension Nutrition and Wellness Educator. The registration fee covers the cost of recipe booklets and food samples. For youth under the age of 18, the registration fee is $5. For further information or to register, call University of Illinois Extension-Stephenson County at 815-235-4125 or register online at www.extension.uiuc.edu/stephenson.

If what you did yesterday seems big, you haven't done anything today.
